adaptations, have been created so that interactive control of computers and use of the information presented is possible more likely to be available by both visual and nonvisual means; and information technology, which has resulted in an undue burden on state agencies; and that this act is immediately necessary because the efficient installation, upgrading, and modification of information technology is essential to the functioning of the state. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist, and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on:
